Recently I was presented with the opportunity to check out a very cool clothing company after my own heart. Revenge Is... makes beautifully designed organic cotton t-shirts that really make a statement, featuring themes such as "Equal Love," "Peace," and "Earth Day."

Apart from great messages, the shirts fit amazingly well. I mention that because that hasn't always been the case with some organic tees (or conventional for that matter) that I have purchased. I get so many compliments when wearing the Peace and Earth Day tees that I wear them each at least once per week. They can take it. The quality is superb.

The shirts (also available for men and children) mentioned above sell for $32 each at the Revenge Is... website. They are priced perfect for holiday gifting (I am determined to start early this year). Check out the entire collection. There's something for everyone. And hurry because Revenge Is... is offering Pink Green Chick readers 15% off purchases with coupon code: PGC15 through October 21, 2009!
